This week's word of the week is:

EQUALITY

In Fairytaleville, where every story began with "Once upon a time," little Emma Elephant embarked on a quest to understand the enchanting meaning of equality. Wise Grandma Giraffe explained, "Equality, dear Emma, is like a magical cake where everyone gets an equally delicious slice. It's treating everyone the same, no matter how different they might be." Determined to share the joy of equality, Emma gathered friends from all corners of Fairytaleville—Cleo Cat, Ricky Rabbit, and Danny Dragon. They decided to organise a grand costume parade, where every creature, big or small, furry or feathered, would be celebrated for their unique charm.

As the parade danced through the cobbled streets, each friend wore a costume that reflected their individuality. Cleo Cat sparkled in a rainbow tutu, while Ricky Rabbit twirled with polka-dotted ears. The magical moment unfolded as the townsfolk cheered for the spectacular display of equality.

In Fairytaleville, equality wasn't just a word; it was a lively dance where differences were embraced and celebrated. The grand parade became an annual tradition, reminding everyone that in the land of fairytales, every character had a special role in creating a story of harmony and joy.

Last week's Head Teacher challenge was for all form groups to get together and complete a quiz that was based on 2023. Beech class won the quiz with 9 correct answers! Birch, Bonsai, Chestnut, Maple and Linden all scored 8. For winning the challenge the pupils from Beech all received a £2 voucher to be spent in the school tuck shop.

This week's assembly was based on Equality and Equity, and was presented by the KS4 Lead, Louise.

Equality means treating everyone the same, like giving everyone the same-sized box to stand on. But, imagine if some people are shorter or taller. Equity is like giving each person the right-sized box so everyone can see over the fence and enjoy the game. It's about making sure everyone has what they need to be happy and successful, even if it's different for each person. So, while equality is being fair by treating everyone alike, equity is being fair by giving everyone what they need to be their best selves. It's like making sure the playground is fun for everyone, no matter their size or abilities.
